Good Hygiene Promotes Good Attendance

A newly-published study in the indicates that an effective hand hygiene program can dramatically decrease absenteeism among school children.

The study, reported in June 2006 noted a 50.6% reduction in absences among 290 students enrolled when following a program that included the use of Purell® Instant Hand Sanitiser dispensers in each classroom.

The study adds support to a similar analysis reported 2000. That research found a nearly 20% reduction in absenteeism among students who followed a well-formulated hand hygiene program even without the use of a hand sanitiser.

The fact is, good hygiene means good attendance - and no one knows hygiene better than Swisher.

For more than 20 years, we've been delivering schools, day care centres, nursing facilities and others advanced, innovative and effective hygiene solutions.
